Want to pass on a compliment?

Our team members are incredibly dedicated people who put our customers at the heart of everything they do. It makes their day when they receive compliments from customers in recognition of a job well done. If you would like to pass on a compliment, we would love to hear from you.

If we didn't get things quite right

Despite the best laid plans, very occasionally we fall short of the high standards we set ourselves. We want to hear from you if we haven't quite got it right so we can make amends and learn how we can improve for the future.

Want to make a complaint?

We believe that when something goes wrong, it's how you deal with it that counts. We know that the best way to restore your trust in us is to resolve issues at the first point of contact.

Step 1

If you are unhappy with any aspect of our service, please give us the opportunity to put things right. Calling us is the quickest and easiest way. We'll listen to your concerns and strive to resolve the issue by the end of the call. We trust our customer-facing teams to make decisions in the interests of customer care so we will always try our very best to solve the problem there and then.

In some instances, we may need to speak to other teams to understand what went wrong. If this is the case, we will aim to come back to you with a resolution within five working days from the date we received your complaint.

If you would prefer to email or write to us, that's fine too. We always try to respond to a written complaint within 10 working days from the date we received your complaint.

Whether you contact us by phone or in writing, we will endeavour to respond within our target timescales, but if for any reason we need longer to resolve your complaint, we'll contact you to let you know why and when you can expect a response.

Still not resolved to your satisfaction?

Step 2

We are confident that in most cases we are able to resolve any issues when you first make contact with us. However, on the rare occasion that we have been unable to resolve your concerns to your satisfaction, our customer relations team will investigate your complaint further and seek to settle it promptly, providing you with an open and honest account of what went wrong and why.

You can contact the customer relations team by emailing or writing into us, quoting 'escalated complaint'.

Once we receive your complaint, we will normally call you to discuss and resolve it over the phone. We do this because we believe that the human touch can make all the difference and it means we can check we have fully understood your complaint and dealt with the matter to your satisfaction.

If we are unable to reach you by phone, we aim to respond in writing within 10 working days from the date we receive the complaint unless there is a specific reason we will need longer, in which case we will let you know.

An independent view

Step 3

We're pleased to say that it's not often that complaints reach this stage as we take pride in how we respond when issues arise.

In the event that you remain unhappy after exhausting both avenues with us directly, you can contact the Consumer Council for Water (CCW), the independent voice for water consumers in England, by calling

0300 034 2222 or use its online form at www.ccw.org.uk/contact-us

This organisation represents the interests of water and sewerage customers and has legal duties for dealing with customer complaints. It will look at the facts relating to your case and take the matter up with us on your behalf. It offers this service free of charge.

If the Consumer Council for Water thinks your complaint is justified, we will be asked to take the appropriate action to put things right.

For customers in Scotland

In the event that you remain unhappy after exhausting both avenues with us directly, you have the right to refer your complaint to the Scottish Public Services Ombudsman (SPSO). The SPSO is the final stage for complaints about public services in Scotland. The SPSO cannot normally look at complaints:

- where you have not gone all the way through the organisation's complaints handling procedure
- more than 12 months after you became aware of the matter you want to complain about, or
- that have been or are being considered in court

Details of your complaint and the responses you have received from water2business should be sent to:
